Ardis is not just housing for your horse! It has become more of a small community with a family feel to it and mutual support and encouragement for one another. I am selective and careful in deciding which new members come in and ask that anyone coming in embrace our philosophy and become involved. I run the property single handed and have no support from a partner so your help and involvement is both appreciated and necessary. There are so many ways to be involved; for example, offering to help with property maintenance, writing articles for the newsletter, organising social get togethers, helping plan/guide the future of the business .... Everyone has their own unique set of skills and the right people will want to offer what they can! What can you offer?
